

Polly Bath's Teaching Social Skills is an All-Day Event!

Thursday, March 26, 2020 (8:30 AM – 3:00 PM)

Presenter: Polly Bath, Cristia Lesher Associates LLC

Session: 20-BMPB02

Description: When a student gets in trouble in school it is often because they did not have the social skills to handle what was facing them! Therefore, in this workshop Polly Bath will show participants how to use teachable moments in the classroom, hallways, and lunchroom in order to teach students the social skills and good manners they need to be successful in school. Discover the embedded social skills requirements in most classrooms that can make the socially unskilled student look as if they do not know their academics, when in fact they might know them perfectly well! Examine behavior problems that might simply arise from the lack of a missing social skill. Polly will unravel the typical school day and classroom, examining the countless times students are called upon to have good social skills, including in the academic setting, and what every educator can do to help! In this very funny workshop, liberally spiced with her signature humor and stories, Polly Bath guides the audience to a new way of helping kids improve their behaviors by helping them build their social skills on the spot—right when they need them.

Audience: All educators.

Presenter: Polly Bath (Cristia Lesher Associates) is a New England educator who presents and consults around the country on successful, common-sense, trauma-sensitive strategies for solving school behavior problems. She is most especially known for teaching educators how to change those difficult behaviors that are the most resistant to change.
